Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Wednesday 07 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Staying on the cold side for the next few days.

Today:
Most areas dry with sunny spells but also a fair amount of cloud at times. Early snow showers will become confined to northern Scotland whilst cloud and outbreaks of rain reach Northern Ireland later. Cold but less windy than yesterday.

Tonight:
Cloud will spread eastwards across the UK bringing patchy rain to some northern and western parts, mainly coasts and hills, and also some hill snow to Scotland. Another cold night.

Thursday:
Most areas will be fairly cloud but mostly dry. More unsettled for Scotland with spells of rain during the afternoon. Northern Scotland turning windy later. Still on the cold side.

Outlook for Friday to Sunday:
Wintry showers across the north Friday and Saturday, cloudier in the south with rain in places. Many parts dry and bright Sunday, some rain spreading to the northwest later.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.